Background of this Case

Petitioner is an inmate at the Kirkland Correctional Institution of the South Carolina Department of Corrections. The South Carolina Department of Corrections website (www.doc.sc.gov) indicates that Petitioner is serving a sentence of forty-seven (47) years for murder and that Petitioner was admitted to the South Carolina Department of Corrections on August 5, 2011. Petitioner's sentence "start date" is October 17, 2009, because of Petitioner's "jail time" credit.

In the Amended Petition, Petitioner indicates that on August 2, 2011, in the Court of General Sessions for Horry County, Petitioner was convicted, in a jury trial, of murder (Indictment No. 2008-GS-26-2911). Petitioner checks the "Yes" box to Question 8 to indicate that he filed an appeal from the judgment of conviction. Petitioner also indicates that he has filed an application for post-conviction relief. A search of the online records of the Clerk of Court for Horry County indicates that Petitioner filed an application for post-conviction relief (Case No. 2011-CP-26-06223) on July 14, 2011, which was nineteen (19) days prior to entry of the judgment in Petitioner's criminal case.¹

Petitioner raises various grounds in the Amended Petition. Those grounds include lack of probable cause during arrest; failure to submit identification issue to jury; unavailability of lead detective for trial; prosecutorial misconduct; speedy trial violation; incompetence of counsel; improper identification by Walker Johnson; and invalid indictment.

Discussion

Under established local procedure in this judicial district, a careful review has been made of the pro se Amended Petition and the Form AO 240 (Motion for Leave to Proceed in forma pauperis) pursuant to the procedural provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 1915 and the Anti-Terrorism and Effective Death Penalty Act of 1996. The review² has been conducted in light of the following precedents: Denton v. Hernandez, 504 U.S. 25 (1992); Neitzke v. Williams, 490 U.S. 319 (1989); Haines v. Kerner, 404 U.S. 519 (1972); Nasim v. Warden, Maryland House of Correction, 64 F.3d ¹A federal court may take judicial notice of factual information located in postings on governmental websites in the United States. Mitchell v. Newsom, Civil Action No. 3:11-0869-CMC-PJG, 2011 WL 2162723, *3 n. 1 (D.S.C. May 10, 2011) (collecting cases), adopted, 2011 WL 2162184 (D.S.C. June 1, 2011); In Re Katrina Canal Breaches Consolidated Litigation, 533 F. Supp. 2d 615, 631-33 & nn. 14-15 (E.D. La. 2008) (collecting cases indicating that federal courts may take judicial notice of governmental websites, including court records); and Williams v. Long, 585 F. Supp. 2d 679, 686-88 & n. 4 (D. Md. 2008) (collecting cases indicating that postings on government websites are inherently authentic or self-authenticating).

²Pursuant to the provisions of 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1)(B) and Local Civil Rule 73.02 DSC, the undersigned is authorized to review such complaints for relief and submit findings and recommendations to the District Court.

951 (4th Cir. 1995)(en banc); Todd v. Baskerville, 712 F.2d 70 (4th Cir. 1983); Loe v. Armistead, 582 F.2d 1291 (4th Cir. 1978); and Gordon v. Leeke, 574 F.2d 1147, 1151 (4th Cir. 1978). The petitioner is a pro se litigant, and thus his pleadings are accorded liberal construction. See Erickson v. Pardus, 551 U.S. 89 (2007)(per curiam); Hughes v. Rowe, 449 U.S. 5, 9-10 & n. 7 (1980)(per curiam); and Cruz v. Beto, 405 U.S. 319 (1972). When a federal court is evaluating a pro se complaint or petition, the plaintiff's or petitioner's allegations are assumed to be true. Fine v. City of New York, 529 F.2d 70, 74 (2nd Cir. 1975). Even when considered under this less stringent standard, the Amended Petition is subject to summary dismissal. The requirement of liberal construction does not mean that the court can ignore a clear failure in the pleading to allege facts which set forth a claim currently cognizable in a federal district court. Weller v. Department of Social Services, 901 F.2d 387 (4th Cir. 1990).

With respect to his conviction and sentence, Petitioner's sole federal remedies are a writ of habeas corpus under either 28 U.S.C. § 2254 or 28 U.S.C. § 2241, which can be sought only after Petitioner has exhausted his state court remedies. "It is the rule in this country that assertions of error in criminal proceedings must first be raised in state court in order to form the basis for relief in habeas. Claims not so raised are considered defaulted." Beard v. Green, 523 U.S. 371, 375 (1998) (citing Wainwright v. Sykes, 433 U.S. 72 (1977)). See also 28 U.S.C. § 2254(b); Braden v. 30th Judicial Circuit Court, 410 U.S. 484, 490-91 (1973); and Picard v. Connor, 404 U.S. 270 (1971) (exhaustion required under § 2241).

The exhaustion requirements under § 2254 are fully set forth in Matthews v. Evatt, 105 F.3d 907 (4th Cir. 1997):

In the interest of giving state courts the first opportunity to consider alleged constitutional errors occurring in a defendant's state trial and sentencing, a § 2254 petitioner is required to "exhaust" all state court remedies before a federal district court can entertain his claims. Thus, a federal habeas court may consider only those issues which have been "fairly presented" to the state courts. . . .

To satisfy the exhaustion requirement, a habeas petitioner must fairly present his claim to the state's highest court. The burden of proving that a claim has been exhausted lies with the petitioner.

The exhaustion requirement, though not jurisdictional, is strictly enforced[.]

Matthews v. Evatt, 105 F.3d at 910-11 (citations omitted).

In any event, it is clear that Petitioner has not exhausted his state court remedies. Exhaustion of state court remedies is required by 28 U.S.C. § 2254(b)(1)(A). A petitioner must first exhaust his applicable state court remedies, including a direct appeal, State v. Northcutt, 372 S.C. 207, 641 S.E.2d 873 (2007), and post-conviction relief, See S.C. Code Ann. § 17-27-10 (Westlaw 2011) et seq.; Strickland v. Washington, 466 U.S. 668, 686 (1984); Brightman v. State, 336 S.C. 348, 520 S.E.2d 614 (1999); and Drayton v. Evatt, 312 S.C. 4, 430 S.E.2d 517, 519-20 (1993).

Since Petitioner has yet to exhaust three (3) viable state court remedies — his pending direct appeal, an application for post-conviction relief, and an “appeal” (petition for writ of certiorari) in the post-conviction case, this Court should not keep this case on its docket while Petitioner is exhausting his state court remedies. See Galloway v. Stephenson, 510 F. Supp. 840, 846 (M.D.N.C. 1981): "When state court remedies have not been exhausted, absent special circumstances, a federal habeas court may not retain the case on its docket, pending exhaustion, but should dismiss the petition." See Pitchess v. Davis, 421 U.S. 482, 490 (1975); and Lawson v. Dixon, 3 F.3d 743, 749 n. 4 (4th Cir. 1993) ("[E]xhaustion is not a jurisdictional requirement, but rather arises from interests of comity between the state and federal courts.").

On December 1, 2009, the Rules governing Section 2254 and 2255 cases in the United States District Courts were amended to require that the district court issue or deny a certificate of appealability when a final ruling on a post-conviction petition is issued. See Rule 11(a), Rules Governing Section 2254 Cases in the United States District Courts: “The district court must issue or deny a certificate of appealability when it enters a final order adverse to the applicant.”

Recommendation

Accordingly, it is recommended that the § 2254 petition be dismissed without prejudice and without requiring Respondent to file an answer or return. See Rule 4, Rules Governing Section 2254 Cases in the United States District Courts: “If it plainly appears from the petition and any attached exhibits that the petitioner is not entitled to relief in the district court, the judge must dismiss the petition and direct the clerk to notify the petitioner.” It is recommended that the District Court deny a Certificate of Appealability and also deny Petitioner’s Motion for Service of Petition (ECF No. 24). Petitioner’s attention is directed to the important notice on the next page.
